

Northwest Arkansas Regional Planning Commission &
Urban Land Institute Northwest Arkansas Present

Growing Mobility for a Growing Region The Business Case for Transit

Part Three: How and Why the Raleigh-Durham and Indianapolis Business Communities Support Transit

Come join us for a lecture and discussion with Joe Milazzo and Mark Fisher on:

THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 2018

4:30 P.M. - 6:30 P.M.

Northwest Arkansas Board of Realtors
314 N. Goad Springs Rd., Lowell, AR

RSVP at https://mobility_speakers_part3.eventbrite.com

Joe Milazzo II, PE
Executive Director
Regional Transportation
Alliance
Raleigh-Durham

Joe Milazzo serves as Executive Director of the Regional Transportation Alliance (RTA) business coalition. RTA is the voice of the regional business community on transportation in the Research Triangle region of North Carolina, which includes more than 125 of the leading businesses, universities, and transportation partners across the Raleigh, Durham, Chapel Hill region. RTA elevated a scalable, bus rapid transit-based approach as a viable option for improving transit in Wake County.

Joe serves on the Rethinking Southern Cities council for Urban Land Institute (ULI) Carolinas and holds master's degrees in both business management and civil engineering from NC State and a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Penn State. He has been a licensed professional engineer in North Carolina for more than 20 years.

Mark Fisher
Chief Policy Officer
Indy Chamber
Indianapolis

Mark Fisher serves as the Chief Policy Officer for the Indy Chamber. In this role, Mark is responsible for the overall public policy direction of the Indy Chamber, while focusing his efforts on economic & community development, transportation, local government and fiscal policy matters. Prior to joining the Indy Chamber, Mark served as Director of Engagement and Interim President of Develop Indy as well as various roles within the Indy Chamber's public policy team.

Mark holds a Bachelor's degree in Sociology, certificate in Business, a minor in Economics from Indiana University-Bloomington and a Master's of Public Affairs from Indiana University-Indianapolis. Mark is active in community-based initiatives including Leadership Indianapolis, as well as serving as a member of the board for IndyGo (the Indianapolis transit agency), EmployIndy, Midtown Indy and the Indianapolis LISC office.

This event is made possible thanks to the support of:

